

Summer Course in Tohoku University

Children and Youths in Asia & Schools in Asia

22-29 August 2012

The Graduate School of Education Tohoku University offers a 10-day program during the forthcoming Summer Course. We expect the program to attract international students. In this year, we will invite international students to our sample program; tuition fee is free and we also provide traveling expenses and dormitory.

Who is this program for?

Graduate Students who have an interest in education in Asian countries.

What will the program teach me?

This program has structures around 2 aspects of education in Asian countries; one is children and youths, and another is school education in comparative perspective. In these 2 courses we use English.
